What is UTeach Urban Teachers?
It’s a program leading to teacher certification in English or Social Studies. Students can enroll either as they approach their last year at UT, or after graduation for a Master’s Degree plus certification.

What is it about?
This program equips new teachers with the abilities and understandings necessary for becoming high quality teachers in economically, linguistically, and culturally diverse schools and communities that are all too often denied the educational opportunities all students deserve.

Who can apply?
People with degrees or undergraduates with nearly completed majors in the humanities or social sciences, communications and media studies, art history, or theatre. Email us if you have questions.
